Paper Lantern

5–10 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Paper, crayons, child scissors, glue stick, tape

1. Fold the body along the dashed middle line, bringing the long edges together.

2. Cut the outer rectangle and handle strip. With the body folded, cut each solid slit from the fold towards the uncut rim; stop at the marked ends.

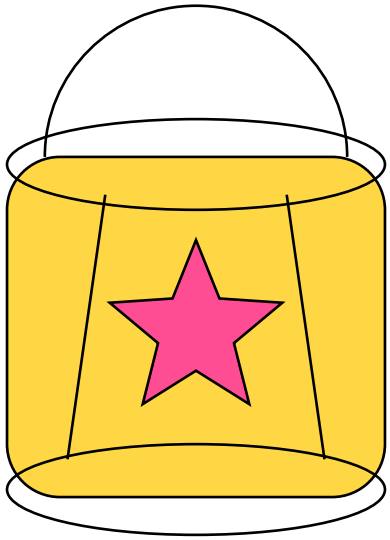

3. Unfold. Curve the body into a cylinder and overlap the short edge onto the 10 mm glue tab.

4. Glue and tape the seam. Press the top and bottom rims gently towards each other so the slits open.

5. Tape the paper handle inside the top rim. Display as a paper decoration without a flame.

Safety: Adults supervise scissors and check the seam. This lantern is a decoration, not a cover for a hot light. Keep any separate LED unit and its secured batteries under adult control.

At your party: Make a lantern station with pre-folded bodies and a completed sample.

Stained Glass Cross

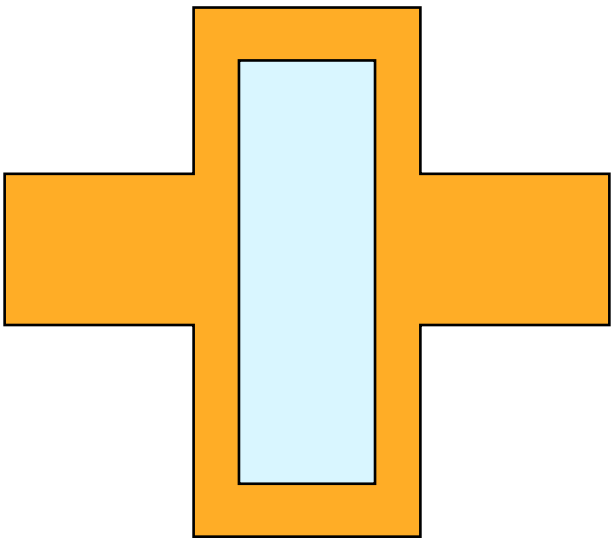

6–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Card, tissue paper, child scissors, glue stick

1. Color the outer frame if using the black-and-white version.
2. Cut the outside cross shape. Ask an adult to start and cut the inner opening.
3. Tear tissue into pieces larger than the opening edges.
4. Glue tissue over the back, overlapping the frame so there are no loose gaps.
5. Let the glue dry and display with removable tape on a window.

Safety: Adult cutting help is needed for the inner opening. Use tissue and glue, not glass.

At your party: Offer pre-cut frames and tissue trays so children can finish independently.

Shine Bright Crown

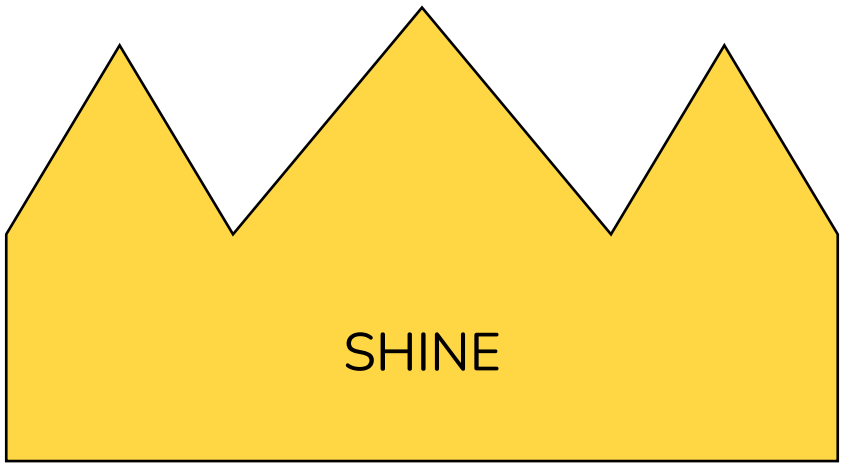

4–9 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Paper or light card, crayons, scissors, tape, measuring tape

1. Decorate the two pointed crown bands and the plain extension.
2. Cut the three strips on their solid outside edges.
3. Overlap the printed join zones by at least 10 mm and tape the joins.
4. An adult measures the fit around the child's head and adjusts the final overlap loosely.
5. For a larger fit, print an extra extension. Remove the crown whenever it feels uncomfortable.

Safety: An adult fits the crown; use tape rather than staples. Never fasten tightly or leave headwear on during sleep.

At your party: Prepare extension strips and tape tabs before the party.

Rainbow Paper Chains

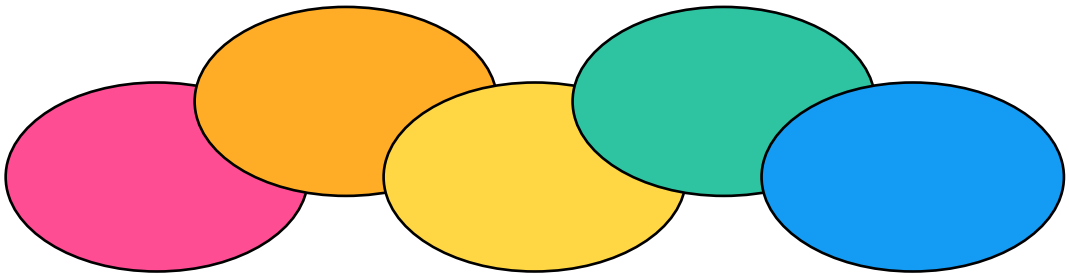

4–9 years • 15 minutes • easy

You will need: Paper, crayons, scissors, glue stick or tape

1. Color the strips or choose the colored template.
2. Cut the eight rectangular strips.
3. Curve the first strip into a loop and overlap the marked 10 mm end zone.
4. Pass the next strip through the first loop and close it the same way.
5. Repeat and let an adult hang the chain as a wall decoration.

Safety: Adults supervise scissors and hang decorations out of reach; never wear paper chains around the neck.

At your party: Give each table one color family and join their chains together.

Star Garland

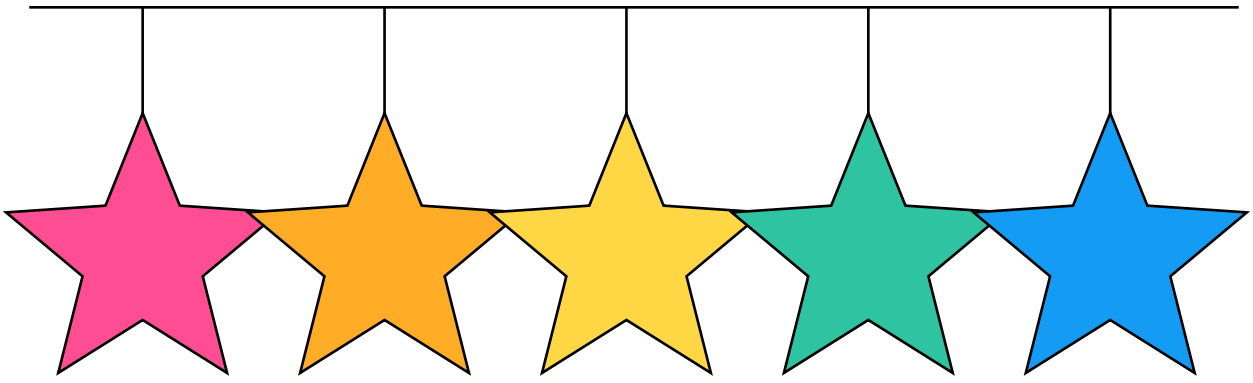

5–12 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, string, tape, adult hole punch

1. Decorate the stars before cutting.
2. Cut around each star outline.
3. Ask an adult to punch the marked holes, or tape string to the backs instead.
4. Space the stars along a length of string and secure each one.
5. An adult hangs the garland away from walkways and children's reach.

Safety: String is not a necklace. Adults handle hole punches and hang the finished display.

At your party: Invite children to write one hopeful word on each large star.

Light of the World Wheel

6–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, glue, adult paper fastener

1. Decorate the top wheel and read its message with an adult.

2. Cut both circles. An adult cuts out the marked window area on the top wheel.

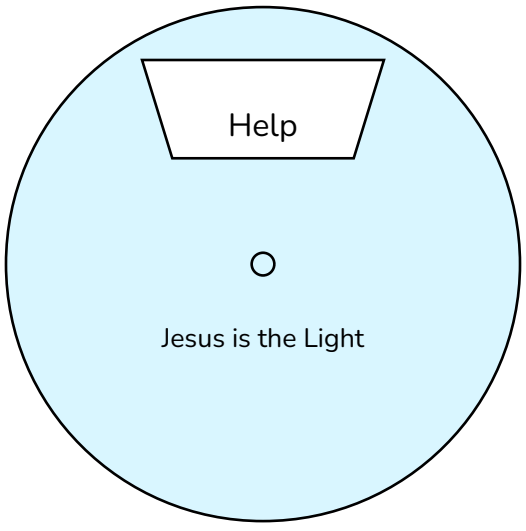

3. An adult makes the small center holes.

4. Place the message wheel underneath the window wheel and join loosely with a paper fastener.

5. Turn the lower wheel to reveal Help, Share, Listen, Thank, Include or Care; discuss a way to put one into practice.

Safety: Adult assembly is required for the sharp fastener and small parts. Keep spare fasteners away from younger children.

At your party: Use the wheel to choose a kindness challenge at the end of the party.

Sunshine Mask Frame

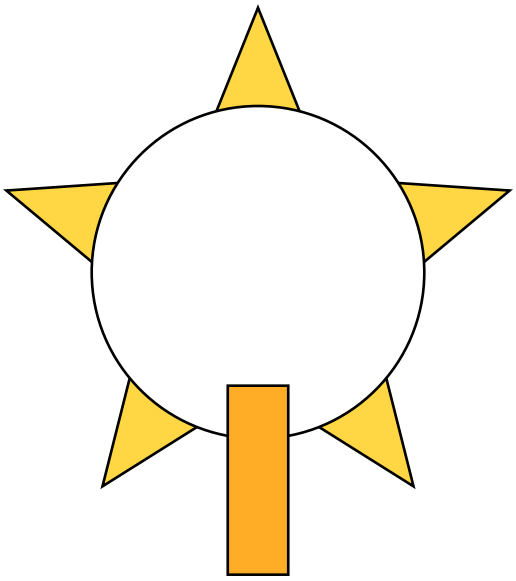

4–8 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, tape

1. Decorate the broad sun rays.
2. Ask an adult to cut the outer sun shape and the large central opening.
3. Cut the handle strip and fold it lengthways into a stiff paper handle.
4. Tape the handle to the back of the lower ray.
5. Hold the frame in front of the face, looking through the open middle; eyes, nose and mouth stay uncovered.

Safety: Adult help is required for the inner cut. Use the paper handle; do not tie the frame around the head.

At your party: Use the open-face frame at a welcoming photo corner with adult permission.

Decorate and Give Kindness Cards

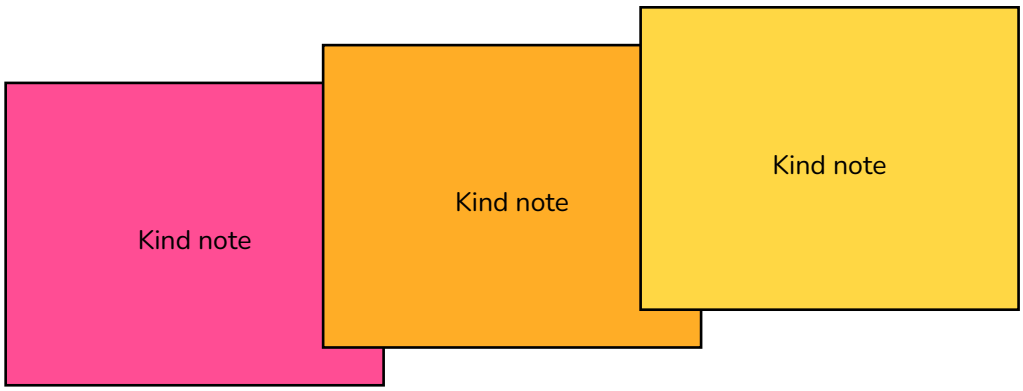

4–12 years • 15 minutes • easy

You will need: Paper or card, crayons, scissors

1. Choose a card and decorate its border.
2. Cut the rectangle on the outside line.
3. Write a kind message or ask an adult to write your spoken words.
4. Read it together and choose someone who would welcome the message.
5. Give it personally with adult help; no address or private contact details are needed.

Safety: Adults help with scissors and delivery. Do not ask children to write personal addresses.

At your party: Set up a quiet kindness-card table for children who prefer a calm activity.

Paper Stained Glass Windows

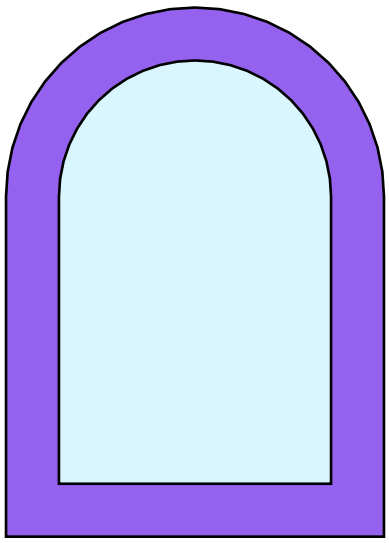

6–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Card, tissue paper, scissors, glue stick

1. Decorate the outside window frame.
2. Cut the outside arch; an adult cuts the inner opening.
3. Choose tissue pieces that overlap the frame by at least 5 mm.
4. Glue the tissue to the back and smooth it gently.
5. Dry flat, then display against a window using removable tape.

Safety: Adults start inner cuts. Use paper and tissue, not glass or sharp transparent plastic.

At your party: Offer three window patterns and a shared basket of tissue offcuts.

Paper Star Wands

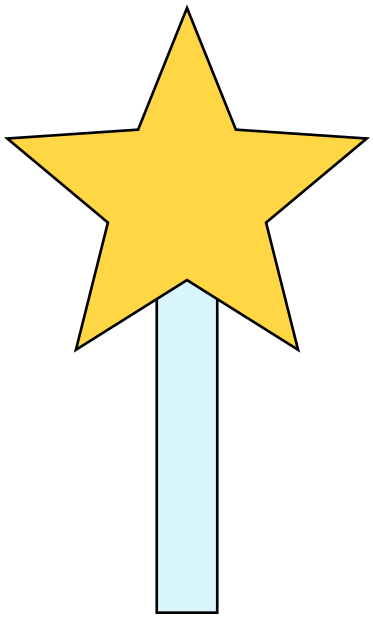

5–10 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, paper, tape, glue

1. Decorate and cut the matching front and back stars.
2. Fold the handle rectangle lengthways several times into a sturdy paper strip.
3. Tape the handle end to the plain back of one star.
4. Glue the second star on top so the handle is sandwiched safely inside.
5. Let it dry and use for gentle pointing or storytelling.

Safety: Use a soft folded paper handle, not a sharp stick. No running, poking or swinging near faces.

At your party: Invite children to decorate the two sides differently, then share a hopeful word.

Fold and Build Lighthouse

6–12 years • 30 minutes • moderate

You will need: Light card, crayons, scissors, glue stick, tape

1. Color the four lighthouse wall panels before cutting.

2. Cut the long body strip and the separate square roof cap, keeping all glue tabs.

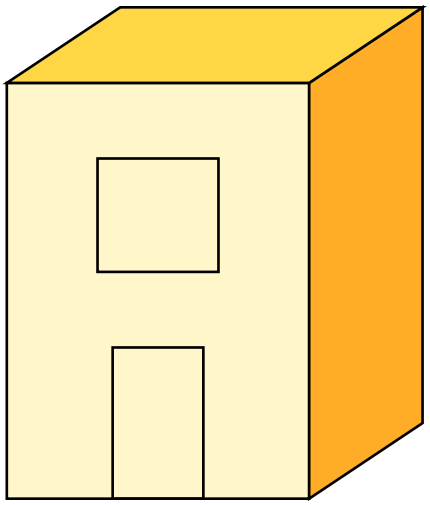

3. Fold the body at each dashed panel line and at the seam tab.

4. Glue the seam tab behind the first panel to make an open-bottom square tower.

5. Fold the roof tabs down and glue them inside the tower top. Stand the paper lighthouse on a flat table; it is not a light fitting.

Safety: Adults supervise cutting and check the tabs. No flames, electrical parts or loose batteries go inside the paper tower.

At your party: Prepare one sample tower so children can see how four panels meet.

Glow Jar Labels

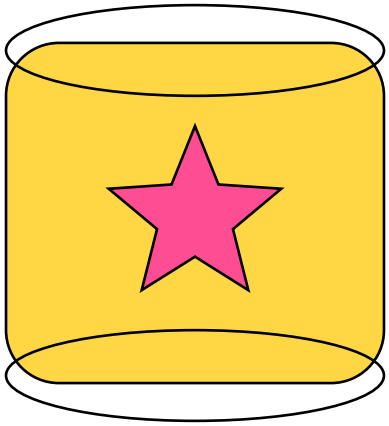

5–10 years • 15 minutes • easy

You will need: Printed labels, crayons, scissors, clear plastic jar, tape; optional adult-controlled LED unit

1. Choose and decorate a label.
2. Cut the label on the outside rectangle.
3. Tape it around a clear plastic display jar without covering the lid or any safety information.
4. If using light, an adult adds a cool LED unit with a secure, tool-fastened battery compartment.
5. Place the finished jar on an adult-managed display table, then return the light unit to adult storage.

Safety: No flames or hot bulbs. Adults control LED units and all batteries; never use an accessible button battery. Use plastic rather than glass.

At your party: Let children decorate the labels while adults manage the separate light display.

Rainbow Mobile

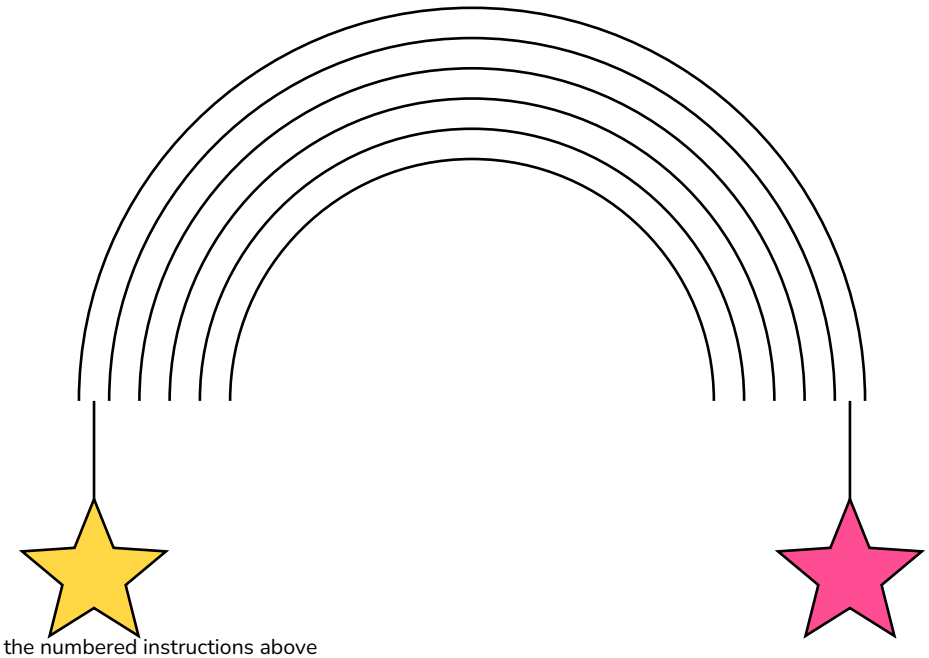

6–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, string, tape, adult hole punch

1. Decorate the rainbow and hanging shapes.
2. Cut the rainbow arch, clouds and stars.
3. An adult punches the marked holes, or tapes string to the backs.
4. Tie or tape short strings from the lower rainbow edge to the hanging shapes.
5. An adult hangs the mobile out of reach, away from doors and walkways.

Safety: String and small cut-outs require supervision. This is a hanging display, not a baby mobile or toy.

At your party: Combine several children's mobiles into a wall of color.

Light-Up Paper City

6–12 years • 30 minutes • moderate

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, tape; optional separate adult-controlled LED display

1. Decorate the three skyline layers.

2. Cut the roof profiles and the outer panel edges.

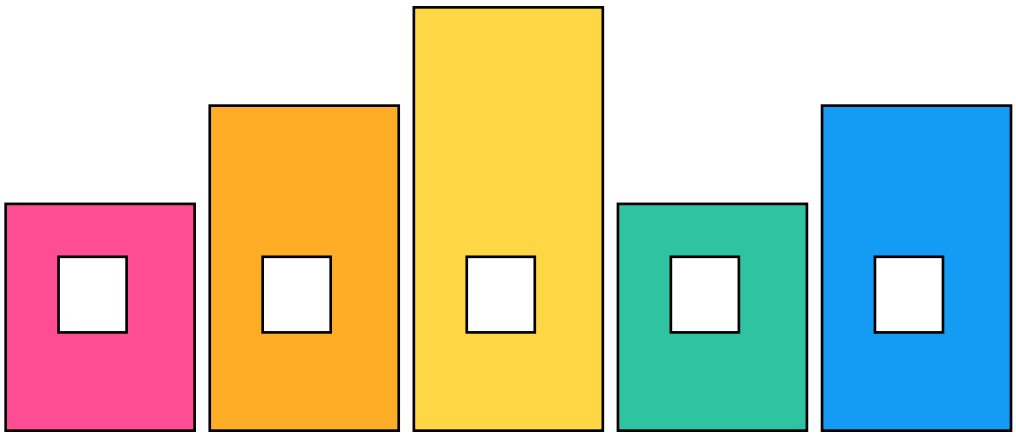

3. Adults may cut a few large window openings; younger children can color them instead.

4. Fold each base strip backwards on the dashed line and tape it to the table or a base card.

5. Arrange the short layer in front, then the taller layers. Keep any cool secured LED display behind the scene and under adult control.

Safety: Adults cut window holes and manage lights. No flames, hot lights or accessible batteries.

At your party: Build a shared city with small groups making one layer each.

No-Flame Paper Candle

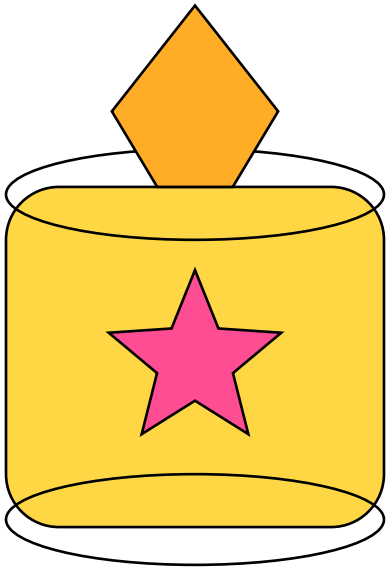

5–10 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Paper or card, crayons, scissors, glue, tape

1. Decorate the rectangular candle body and paper flame.
2. Cut the shapes, keeping the joining tab and the flame's rectangular stem.
3. Roll the body into a tube and overlap the edge onto the 10 mm tab.
4. Glue and tape the seam.
5. Tape the paper flame stem inside the top of the tube. The flame stays paper: never light it or add a real candle.

Safety: Adults supervise scissors. This is a no-flame paper model, not a candle holder.

At your party: Use the paper candles in a table display about hope and kindness.

Jesus Is the Light

You will need: paper or card, coloring pencils and child-safe scissors.

Color the three separate pictures.

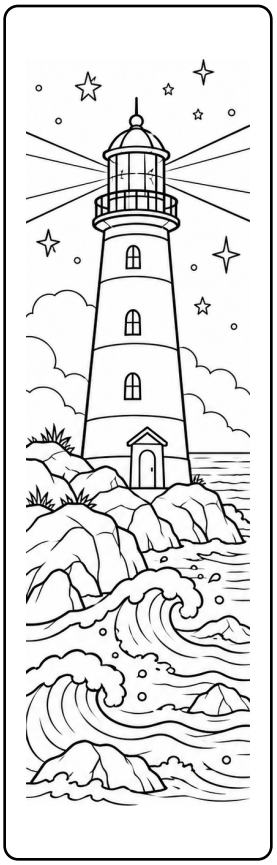

Cut around each rounded outline. Ask an adult for cutting help.

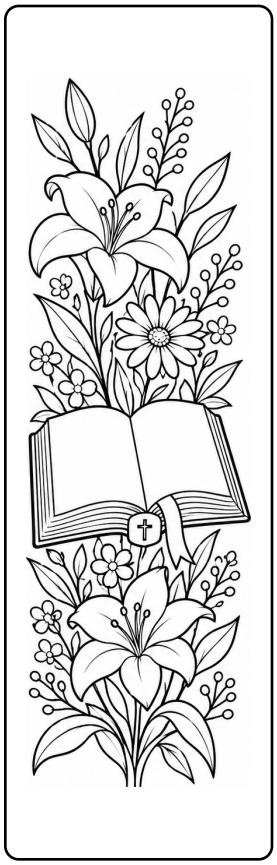

Back with spare card if you want a firmer bookmark.

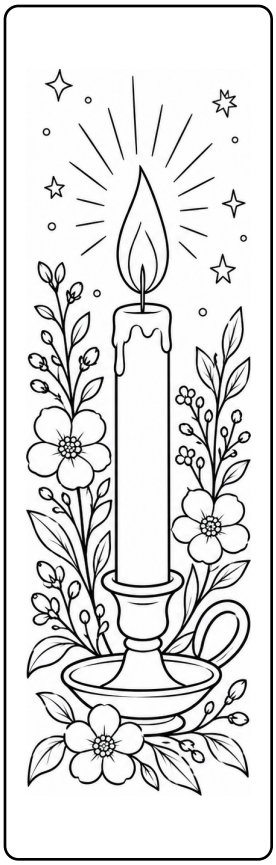

Choose a book and place your bookmark between the pages.

Optional Christian discussion: talk about the light, Bible and candle pictures.

Adults supervise scissors. Avoid small beads or tassels for younger children.

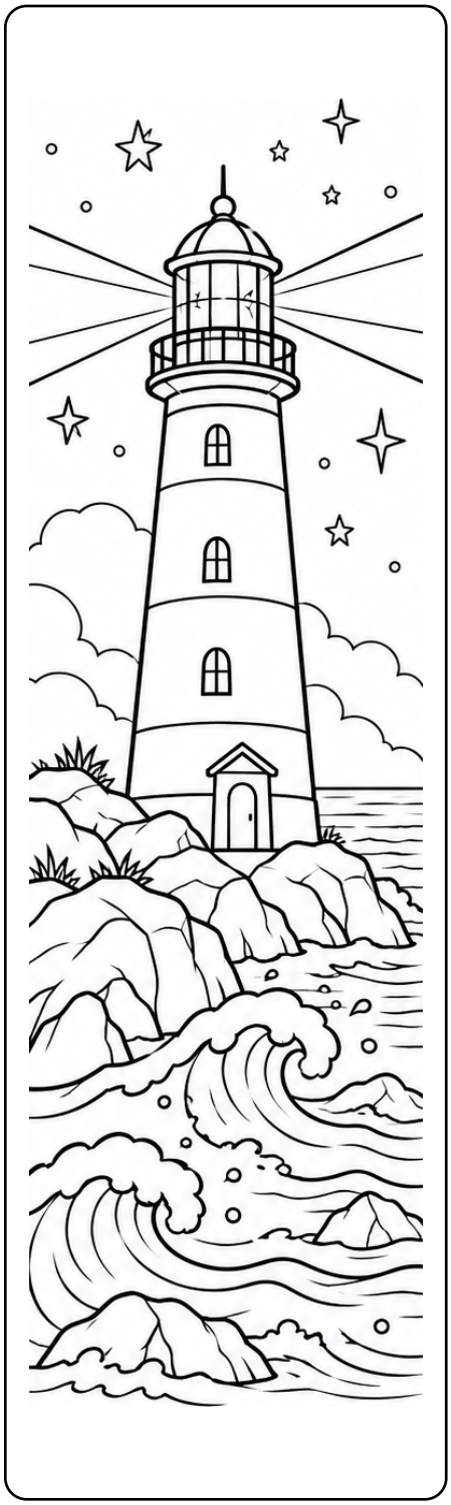

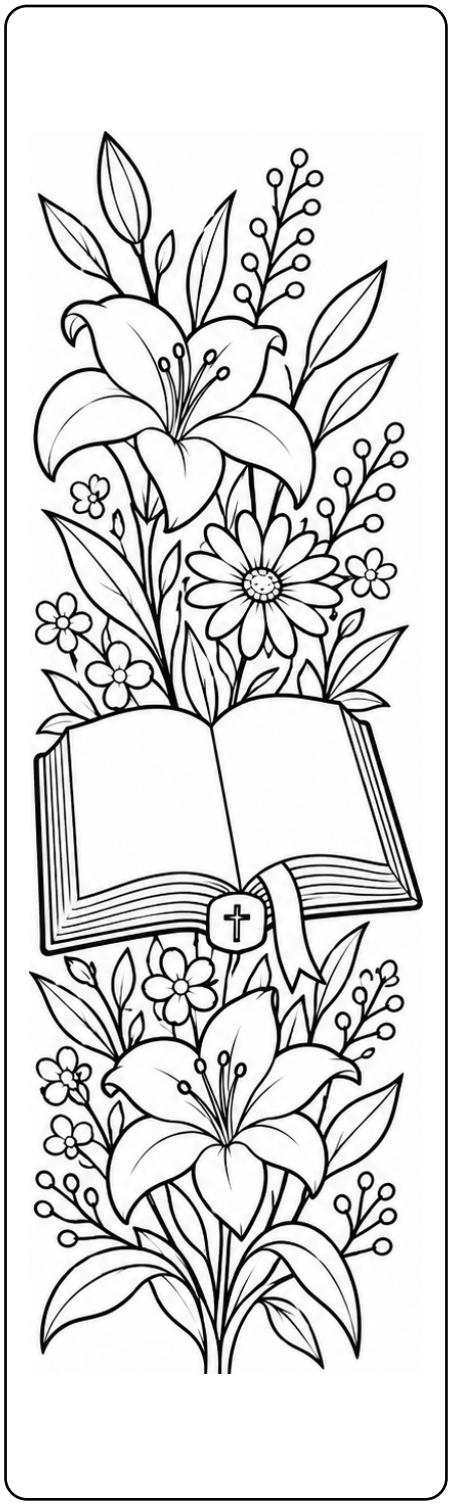

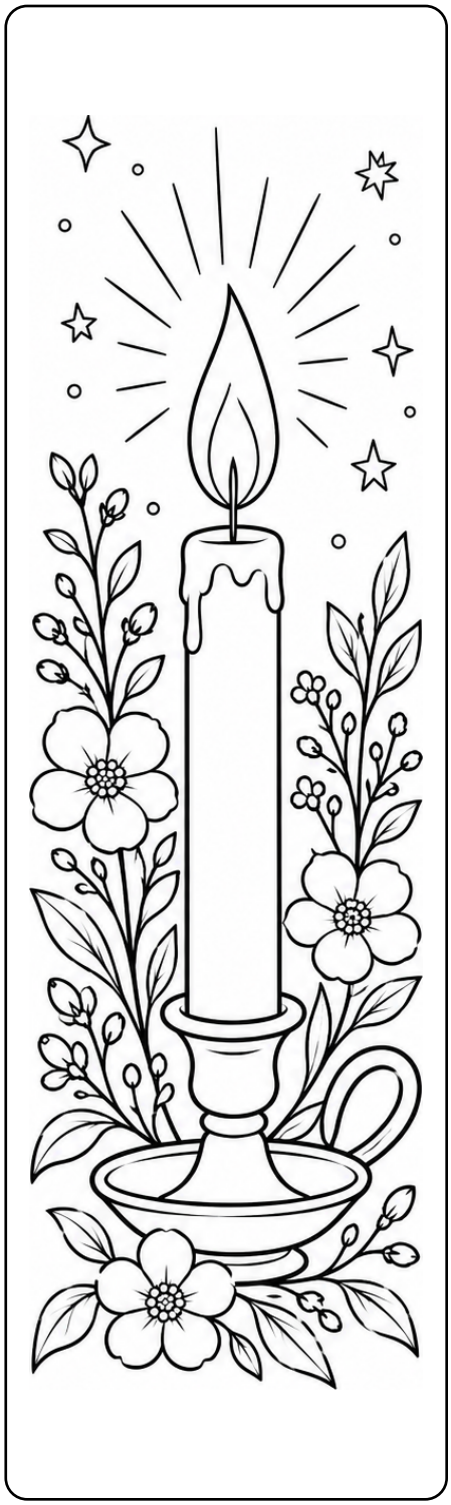

Coloring Bookmarks

Shine Your Light Door Hangers

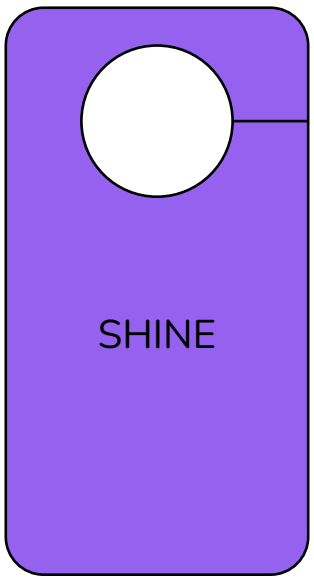

6–12 years • 20 minutes • easy

You will need: Card, crayons, scissors, tape

1. Decorate the long door-hanger body.
2. Cut the outside shape.
3. An adult starts and cuts the circular opening and the short slot to the right edge.
4. Slide the opening gently over a suitable door handle; add tape at the slot if needed.
5. Check that the decoration does not obstruct the latch or any safety sign.

Safety: Adults make the inner cut and check the fit. Do not use on fire doors or over required signs.

At your party: Children can add their chosen hopeful word before taking the hanger home.

Light Catcher Ornaments

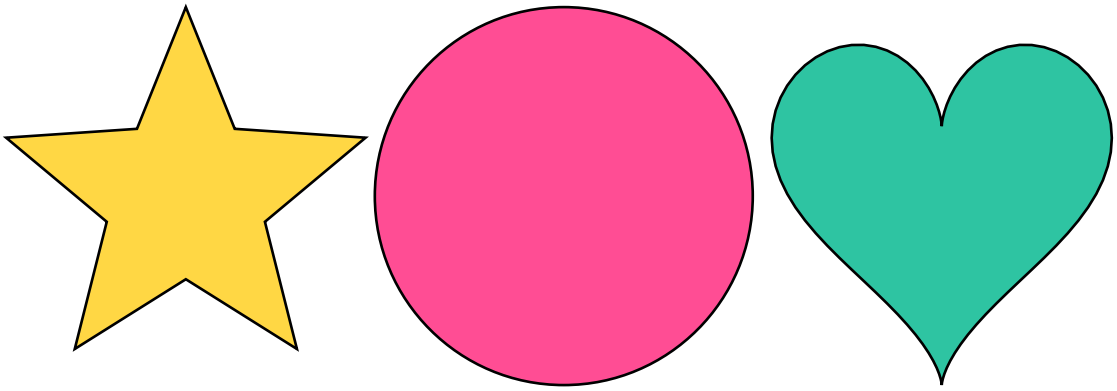

6–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Card, tissue paper, glue, scissors, tape

1. Decorate the three ornament frames.
2. Cut the outside shapes; an adult cuts the inner windows.
3. Glue tissue over the backs with a secure overlap.
4. Dry flat and trim only the tissue outside the frame.
5. Tape the ornaments to a window, or let an adult attach short display strings.

Safety: Adults make inner cuts and manage string. Keep small cut-outs away from under-threes.

At your party: Offer star, circle and heart choices for a shared window display.

Shine Bright Bunting

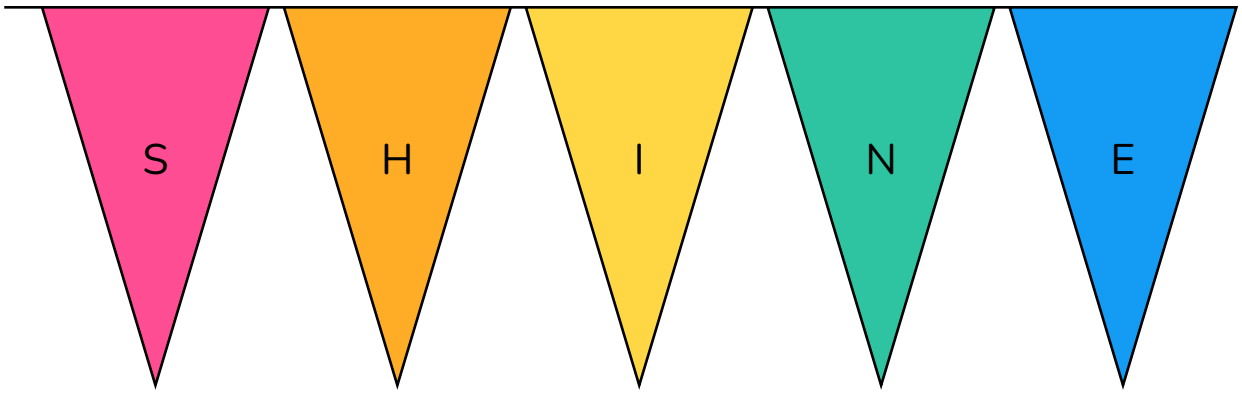

5–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Paper or card, crayons, scissors, string, glue or tape

1. Decorate the five letter flags to spell SHINE.
2. Cut each flag, keeping its top folding tab.
3. Fold every tab backwards along the dashed line.
4. Place a display string inside each fold, then glue or tape the tabs closed.
5. An adult hangs the flags in order, out of children's reach.

Safety: Adults manage the display string and supervise scissors. Do not wear bunting around the body or neck.

6–12 years • 25 minutes • moderate

You will need: Paper, crayons, scissors, glue, tape

1. Choose a kind action for each printed rim prompt: Help, Share, Listen and Include.
2. Decorate the lantern without covering the slit stops or fold line.
3. Fold the middle line and cut the solid slits from the fold, stopping before the uncut rims.
4. Unfold and join the short edges using the 10 mm tab.
5. Add the paper handle and choose one kind action to try during the party.

Safety: Adults supervise cutting. Display as a paper decoration only; no flame or hot light.

At your party: Use the finished lanterns to share specific acts of kindness at closing time.

Light Party Bingo

5–12 years • 2–30 players • 15 minutes

Name: _____

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

Cut the caller slips and give each player a different numbered card. Read and show one slip at a time; players cover the matching word or symbol with a paper marker. A straight row of three wins; check it against the called slips before starting another round.

Make it easier

Read words aloud and match the printed symbols together.

Try a challenge

Play for a full card, then invite a child to be the caller.

Larger groups

Split into supervised small groups and print extra play sets. For bingo, use the thirty distinct cards before repeating a card.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Keep it welcoming

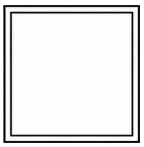

Adults supervise scissors and small pieces. Keep routes clear; no climbing, flames or darkness. Children may pass, watch or choose a quieter activity.

5–12 years • 2–20 players • 25 minutes

Prepare

10 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

An adult places the six shape-labelled station cards around one supervised room. Start at the SUN card and follow each printed clue to the next named shape. The last card sends everyone back to the host for a shared paper-star reward.

Make it easier

Walk the route with an adult and show the shape symbols.

Try a challenge

Let older children design a new route using the blank host location fields.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Keep it welcoming

Adults supervise scissors and small pieces. Keep routes clear; no climbing, flames or darkness. Children may pass, watch or choose a quieter activity.

Kindness Challenge Cards

4–12 years • 2–30 players • 20 minutes

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

Cut and shuffle the twelve action cards. Each child chooses a card, may swap it, and tries the action during the party. Invite volunteers to tell what happened; no one has to share a private story.

Make it easier

Read the cards aloud and choose one shared action.

Try a challenge

Plan how one action could continue after the party.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Keep it welcoming

Adults supervise scissors and small pieces. Keep routes clear; no climbing, flames or darkness. Children may pass, watch or choose a quieter activity.

Game Instructions

Star Hunt

4–10 years • 2–20 players • 15 minutes

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

An adult hides the twelve numbered paper stars within clear safe boundaries. Pairs find a star, note its number on the checklist and leave it for others to find. Finish by checking numbers 1–12 together.

Make it easier

Place stars openly at a reachable height.

Try a challenge

Time a cooperative group search without racing or climbing.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Keep it welcoming

Light-Themed Charades

5–12 years • 4–30 players • 20 minutes

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

Cut and shuffle the action cards. A player may choose or swap a card, then act it silently while the group guesses. Accept clear descriptions and rotate the actor; use the optional one-minute timer only if everyone enjoys it.

Make it easier

Act in pairs or give a spoken clue.

Try a challenge

Combine two prompt cards into one short scene.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards. Optional quiet music or spoken rhythm.

How to play

Cut the paper sun token and action cards. Sit in a circle and pass the token gently while an adult makes a rhythm or plays quiet music. When it stops, the holder chooses a card, may pass, and tries the action. Continue until everyone has had a choice.

Make it easier

Use a spoken stop cue and help pass the paper token.

Try a challenge

Invite a child to lead the rhythm and choose the next action.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Light Party Trivia

6–12 years • 2–30 players • 20 minutes

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

An adult reads one question at a time. Teams discuss quietly, then share an answer. Use the key as guidance; questions asking for an example can have several good answers. Celebrate thoughtful answers rather than speed.

Make it easier

Offer the two suggested choices aloud.

Try a challenge

Ask teams to explain their answer or invent one new question.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Rainbow Walking Relay

5–12 years • 4–30 players • 20 minutes

Prepare

10 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

Place the six shape-and-word station cards at safe points in the room. Teams walk to collect one matching paper token at a time and place it on their mat. Take turns until all six spaces are filled; seated teams may pass tokens along instead.

Make it easier

Bring stations closer or play seated.

Try a challenge

Add a short cooperative message to say when placing a token.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

How to play

Read Matthew 5:14–16 together, then give each player a different numbered bingo card. The adult reads one caller word at a time. Cover a matching square; a straight row of three wins after the host checks the words already called.

Make it easier

Show each caller word and read it together.

Try a challenge

After a win, share a kind action connected with the passage.

Larger groups

Split into supervised small groups and print extra play sets. For bingo, use the thirty distinct cards before repeating a card.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Keep it welcoming

Adults supervise scissors and small pieces. Keep routes clear; no climbing, flames or darkness. Children may pass, watch or choose a quieter activity.

Bible Light Trail

6–12 years • 2–20 players • 25 minutes

Prepare

10 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

An adult places the six numbered station sheets in one supervised area. Pairs visit them in order, read the short WEB passage or excerpt and answer the printed question on their record sheet. Check together using the host key.

Make it easier

An adult reads the passages and accepts spoken answers.

Try a challenge

Explain how the three passages use light as a picture.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

Space and supervision

Indoors; outdoor use only in a supervised bounded area with dry paper and suitable weather.

Keep it welcoming

Adults supervise scissors and small pieces. Keep routes clear; no climbing, flames or darkness. Children may pass, watch or choose a quieter activity.

Acts of Kindness Challenge

5–12 years • 2–30 players • 20 minutes

Prepare

5 minutes. Printed sheets, pencils, paper markers; adult scissors for cut-out cards.

How to play

Read Matthew 5:16 together. Children choose or swap a printed kindness card, try the action and reflect privately or with a trusted adult. Keep participation voluntary; the actions are examples, not a way to earn God's love.

Make it easier

Choose one class or family action together.

Try a challenge

Plan a realistic follow-up act for the coming week.

Larger groups

Make supervised groups of four to six, with a full play set and a helper or reader for each group. Rotate turns and offer a seated or quiet option.

How to Host a Light Party

A practical guide to a welcoming Halloween alternative

What is a Light Party?

A Light Party is a welcoming celebration built around light, hope and kindness. Many churches host one around Halloween as a Christian alternative, with crafts, games, food and an optional Bible message. Families and schools can also use the general lantern, sunshine and star activities without a religious session. Explain the programme in the invitation so every family can choose comfortably.

Christian organisers often connect the celebration with Jesus describing himself as the light of the world in John 8:12. This hub separates explicitly Christian resources from general activities. A guest does not need to know Bible stories, wear a costume or join a faith discussion to enjoy the welcome.

Scripture Union and the Diocese of Ely share examples of Light Parties and lantern events. There is no single programme every host must follow. Choose a manageable event that fits your children, venue and helpers rather than trying to use every printable.

Choose your guests, venue and date

Decide whether this is a family gathering, an invited classroom group or a registered community event. Confirm the venue booking, accessible entrance, toilets, drinking water and a clearly supervised collection point. Keep exits and mobility routes clear. Check the venue's capacity and safeguarding arrangements before advertising places.

Choose a date and time that work for your community; a Light Party does not have to fall on 31 October. Tell families the start and finish times, whether an adult must stay, what food is provided and how to request access support. Ask about allergies, sensory needs and communication preferences during registration. Only collect information you need, restrict access and follow your organisation's retention policy.

Plan a budget you can change

For a home group of 5–10, begin with one shared craft table, a short game and a familiar snack. For a classroom of 15–30, count complete sets for each table and allow for replacement pencils, paper and glue. For a community group of 50–100, include printing, venue costs, food, cleaning and enough trained helpers for the actual activities and children attending.

Use the editable budget sheet to enter your own quantities, local unit prices, donations and contingency. Multiply quantity by unit cost, subtract confirmed contributions and compare the total with your spending limit. There are no assumed prices in this pack. Borrow washable table covers and decorations, reuse scrap paper and offer fewer well-prepared stations if funds are tight.

Set up a bright, calm room

Use normal comfortable room lighting, paper lanterns, large stars and reusable bunting. Decoration does not need to mean darkness. Choose a calm corner with seating and an activity that can be taken away from the main group. Avoid flashing lights, loud sudden sounds, blindfolds and surprise scares. Make station signs readable from a child's height.

Use battery-powered LED lights only when a responsible adult has checked the product and secured its battery compartment. Keep batteries and spare cells out of children's reach. Paper lanterns, tissue crafts and paper candles are decorations: never put a flame, hot bulb or exposed battery inside them. Do not hang strings across walkways or around children's necks.

Offer affordable, comfortable costumes

Invite bright colors, stars, a favourite book character or ordinary comfortable clothes. Say clearly that costumes are optional and no purchase is expected. Paper crowns and handheld star decorations can be made on arrival. Avoid trailing fabric, sharp props, restrictive masks and anything that blocks a child's sight or movement.

Food, allergies and breaks

Keep snacks simple and familiar, with drinking water available. Ask families about allergies before the event and agree what the venue can safely provide. Keep ingredient packaging and label each serving; do not claim a homemade item is allergen-free without a reliable basis. Prevent shared utensils from moving between dishes and follow the venue's food-handling policy.

Offer a non-food option for treats and prizes. Choose foods and serving sizes appropriate to the children present, with seated supervision where needed. Use snack time as a real break rather than asking children to eat while moving between stations. Plan a nearby quiet place for anyone who needs more time.

Run stations that children can actually finish

Choose two or three crafts and a small selection of games. Print one test sheet at actual size before preparing the group copies. Put the finished assembly sketch beside each craft, separate cutting from gluing and have an adult manage tools or small components. Younger children can color prepared shapes while older children build the template themselves.

Give each station a named helper, a clearly marked boundary and a simple instruction card. Demonstrate one task at a time. Let children watch, use larger pieces, work seated or choose a quieter alternative. Plan transitions with a spoken and visual cue. Avoid competitive elimination: children can join again whenever they are ready.

Make the welcome inclusive

Explain which activities include Christian teaching before families attend. Offer a general coloring or lantern station during an optional reflection. Nobody should have to speak, pray, perform or explain their beliefs. Invite children to share something kind they noticed, but let them pass. Celebrate helping and participation rather than perfect crafts.

Agree who checks children in and out, who holds emergency information and how helpers raise a concern. Follow your organisation's safeguarding and supervision policies; the printables do not replace them. Ask guardians about the support their child needs rather than assuming the same approach works for everyone.

Close well and review

Allow time for names on work, a calm final activity and collection by the agreed adult. Count children out according to your venue's procedure. Keep exits staffed while helpers tidy the activity areas. Collect small pieces, check the floor, switch off LED decorations and return borrowed equipment.

Afterwards, ask helpers what children enjoyed, where queues formed and which supplies ran out. Record actual spending and useful changes for next time. A short, safe event with friendly adults is more valuable than an overfilled timetable.

Recruit and brief your helpers

Begin with your organisation’s safeguarding policy and the needs of the actual children, rather than a universal adult-to-child ratio. Name an event lead, a first-aid contact and a backup for each station. Check required recruitment, training and venue procedures before volunteers work with children. Give helpers the running sheet, emergency procedure, accessible routes and an agreed way to ask for support.

For 5–10 children, keep the craft and food in one supervised area. For 15–30, use small table groups with assigned helpers and staggered transitions. For 50–100, use advance registration, a staffed entrance and exit, separate food and craft teams, and capacity-limited stations. If you cannot staff the programme safely, reduce places or activities.

Practical food ideas and alternatives

Offer colorful fruit portions appropriate to the children’s ages, vegetable sticks prepared safely for the group, sandwiches with clearly identified fillings, or simple crackers. A rainbow display can use colored paper labels rather than sweets. Use familiar foods that guardians can check, and avoid hard round foods or other unsuitable choking hazards for younger children.

Ask families before choosing dairy, egg, wheat, soy, sesame or nut ingredients; this is an example list, not a complete allergen assessment. Keep original packaging available, use separate serving utensils and agree safe options with the families concerned. Water and a take-home paper craft can replace sugary drinks and sweet prizes.

Essential spending and optional extras

At home, count one lantern sheet, a handful of coloring sheets and a pencil per child, plus shared glue and adult-managed scissors. A classroom needs enough table sets to avoid queues; divide the printing list by station capacity. A community event needs additional registration materials, accessible signs, cleaning supplies and venue costs. Enter all of these in the budget planner before buying optional decorations.

Costumes, glow accessories, balloons, treat bags and purchased prizes are optional. Paper stars, borrowed table covers and reusable LED products can provide the atmosphere. Budget a contingency you choose; record donations only when confirmed. The editable CSV lets you add formulas in your own spreadsheet, while the fillable PDF supports manual totals.

Optional Bible message: Jesus the Light of the World

Use the separate age-specific five-minute reflection sheets. Read John 8:12 from the World English Bible, then connect the picture of light with following Jesus. Matthew 5:14–16 describes lives that point people towards God; Psalm 119:105 pictures God’s word as a lamp for our steps. These are Christian beliefs, not a requirement for joining the party.

The World English Bible is public domain. Exact verse quotations are attributed in the reflection pack; craft headings such as “Let your light shine” are short activity titles. Never use a flame, darken the room or ask children to share personal fears. Offer a general quiet activity at the same time.

Ten Light Party themes

Let Your Light Shine

110–115 minutes: Optional reflection or quiet activity.

115–120 minutes: Thanks and supervised collection.

Allow 30 minutes after collection for cleanup, equipment counts and helper feedback.

Frequently asked questions

What if it rains?

Choose an indoor fallback before advertising an outdoor trail. Move station cards indoors, shorten walking routes and keep entrances dry and clear. Cancel an outdoor element if the venue cannot run it safely.

What if attendance is lower than expected?

Use one shared table, shorten rotations and let children choose a second activity. Keep the welcome relaxed; you do not need to fill the room with extra stations.

What if more people arrive?

Stay within the booked capacity and agreed supervision arrangements. Use registration limits and a waiting list. Do not add unsupervised stations or accept children you cannot safely accommodate.

Can non-Christian families attend?

Yes, if the invitation clearly explains the programme. Label Christian sessions and offer a general activity at the same time. Make participation optional and welcome guests without testing their beliefs.

How can we reduce sugar and spending?

Offer water, simple familiar snacks and non-food take-home crafts. Borrow supplies and choose two good activities instead of buying treats or decorations for every station.

What about additional needs?

Ask families what helps. Offer seated access, larger templates, a quiet space, clear picture instructions and flexible participation. Discuss any individual support with the family and venue before the event.

How many supplies should I print?

Count registered children and the number who can use each station at once. Print a small contingency within your budget, plus one demonstration copy and the separate answer sheets for helpers.

Can I use these in a classroom?

Use the clearly marked general activities and classroom pack. Christian activities are supplied separately so you can follow your school's policies and the needs of your group.

Reflection Sheet

Name: _____

Jesus, the Light of the World

Optional Christian reflection • Ages 3–5 • Five minutes including pauses

0:00–1:00 | Notice light

Show a paper lantern in the normally lit room. Say: “What helps us see where to put our feet? Light helps us see. Today Christians are celebrating Jesus. Jesus said something special about himself.” Read John 8:12 slowly. Explain: “Jesus calls himself the light of the world. He invites people to follow him.” Let children point to the lantern, speak or simply watch.

1:00–2:00 | Following Jesus

Say: “A light helps us find our way. Christians believe Jesus shows us God’s love and helps us learn how to live. Following Jesus means listening to him and learning his way.” Pause and let children mime taking one careful step while remaining beside their seats. Nobody needs to walk in darkness.

2:00–3:00 | A small kind action

Say: “Jesus welcomes children. We can welcome someone too. We can offer a pencil, make room at the table or ask an adult to help a friend.” Invite children to choose one example with a gesture or words. Give them time to think; passing is fine.

3:00–4:00 | A light for our steps

Read Psalm 119:105. Say: “This Bible song says God’s word is like a lamp for our feet. We can learn one good step at a time.” Slowly repeat the three examples, inviting children to pretend to share a pencil, make room or wave to a friend.

4:00–5:00 | Finish calmly

Say: “Christians thank Jesus for being the light of the world. We can keep learning from him and sharing kindness.” Invite a silent moment or optional prayer: “Jesus, thank you for welcoming us. Help us listen and be kind. Amen.” Children may listen without praying. Point to the quiet coloring alternative and explain the next activity.

Reflection Sheet

Name: _____

Jesus, the Light of the World

Optional Christian reflection • Ages 6–8 • Five minutes including pauses

0:00–1:00 | What does light do?

Show the paper lantern and invite two ideas about what light helps us do. Keep the room lit. Read John 8:12. Say: “Jesus uses light as a picture to tell people who he is. Christians believe he brings us God’s truth and life.” Give a moment to notice the words “follows me”.

1:00–2:00 | More than a decoration

Say: “Jesus did not say he was just a pretty light. He invites people to follow him. Christians learn from his words, trust him and practise his way of love. The lantern reminds us of this, but the paper itself has no special power.” Invite a child to explain the difference between a reminder and the person it reminds us of.

2:00–3:00 | Kindness that points to God

Read Matthew 5:16. Explain that “men” here refers to people. Say: “Jesus asks his followers to do good so people give glory to God, rather than showing off.” Offer a scenario: someone is alone at a craft table. Ask what a welcoming action might look like. Allow several answers and time to pass.

3:00–4:00 | One next step

Read Psalm 119:105. Ask: “Why might a lamp show the next step rather than the whole journey?” Explain that reading and discussing the Bible can help Christians choose a next step. Invite children to draw or quietly think of one act of kindness they can try with adult support.

4:00–5:00 | Invitation and close

Repeat: “Jesus says he is the light of the world. Christians follow him and seek to share his love.” Allow a quiet response or an optional prayer: “Jesus, help us understand your words and choose kindness that points to God. Amen.” Welcome questions without putting anyone on the spot. Thank everyone and give the next activity instructions.

Reflection Sheet

Name: _____

Jesus, the Light of the World

Optional Christian reflection • Ages 9–12 • Five minutes including pauses

0:00–1:00 | Read in context

Invite the group to notice what a light reveals and how it guides. Read John 8:12. Explain that Jesus is speaking about his identity and an invitation to follow him. Christians understand “light of life” as life found in Jesus, not a promise that followers never experience hard times.

1:00–2:00 | Discuss the image

Ask: “What is different between admiring a light and following where it leads?” Allow two or three responses, without asking children to disclose beliefs. Say: “Christians seek to trust Jesus, listen to his teaching and live it out. This party uses light as a reminder, without treating an object as sacred or magical.”

2:00–3:00 | Public good without performance

Read Matthew 5:14 and 5:16. Explain that verse 15 uses the image of a lamp giving light in a house. Ask: “How can a helpful action be visible without becoming a performance?” Suggest including an excluded classmate or helping tidy a shared space. Let the group compare options and notice that the passage directs praise towards God.

3:00–4:00 | Guidance for a real choice

Read Psalm 119:105. Offer a fictional scenario: a group chat mocks someone who is not there. Ask what a thoughtful next step could be: refuse to join, check on the person, and seek a trusted adult if needed. Avoid real names. Explain that Christians connect wise choices with learning from God’s word, prayer and trusted support.

4:00–5:00 | Reflect freely

Invite a quiet moment: “What question do you have about Jesus’ words? What kind action could you practise?” Children may write, think or pass. Finish with an optional prayer thanking Jesus for light and asking for wisdom and compassion. Keep the general activity available. Do not pressure anyone to make a public faith commitment.
